PAC Worldwide Introduces the PACJacket2™, the next generation of ultra-high-speed automated packaging

REDMOND, WA — October 5, 2011 — Today PAC Worldwide is excited to offer the next generation of their highly successful PACJacket Systems line, the PACJacket2. This state-of-the-art machine runs custom printed bubble film just as its predecessor, but now has the added capability of running flat poly film.

The PACJacket2 offers the customer greater flexibility in “right sizing” packages, while adding the additional benefit of running flat poly film for those items that are less fragile and that do not need interior bubble protection. This allows the customer to run even more of their products through the PACJacket2 system - with high productivity output, low maintenance requirements, and best of all, still no expensive cold seal. Call your local PAC representative today at 1-800-535-0039 to learn more about how the PACJacket2 can improve your bottom line, or check out our website at www.pac.com.

“PAC has positioned itself as an innovator of protective packaging through finished goods and automation. We challenge ourselves daily to find the right solution for our valued customers. This PACJacket2 system was designed to give customers more flexibility at a higher output speed all bundled in a smaller footprint.”— Jeff Kellerman, Product Category Manager.
